

Tune thy Musicke to thy hart

Two Bookes of Ayres (1613)

Thomas Campion (1567 - 1620)

Cm Cm E $\flat$  E $\flat$  Fm Fm G C C F F B $\flat$  E $\flat$  A $\flat$  Cm B $\flat$ <sup>sus4</sup> B $\flat$  E $\flat$

Tune thy Mu-sick to thy hart, Sing thy ioy with thankes and so thy so - rrow:

Tune thy Mu - sick to thy hart, Sing thy ioy with thankes and so thy so - rrow:

Tune thy Mu-sick to thy hart, Sing thy ioy with thankes and so thy so - rrow:

Tune thy Mu-sick to thy hart, Sing thy ioy with thankes and so thy so - rrow:

Gm Gm E $\flat$  E $\flat$  A $\flat$  A $\flat$  F B $\flat$  B $\flat$  G Cm E $\flat$  Gm Cm Fm G<sup>sus4</sup> G C

Though De - vo - tion needs not Art, Some-time of the poore the rich may bor - row.

Though De - vo - tion needs not Art, Some - time of the poore the rich may bor - row.

Though De - vo - tion needs not Art, Some - time of the poore the rich may bor - row.

Though De - vo - tion needs not Art, Some - time of the poore the rich may bor - row.

2. Strive not yet for curious wayes,
Concord pleaseth more the lesse 'tis strained;
Zeale affects not outward prayse,
Onely strives to shew a love unfained.

3. Love can wondrous things effect,
Sweetest Sacrifice, all wrath appeasing:
Love the highest doth respect,
Love alone to him is ever pleasing.